How to use CryptoTab the wrong way
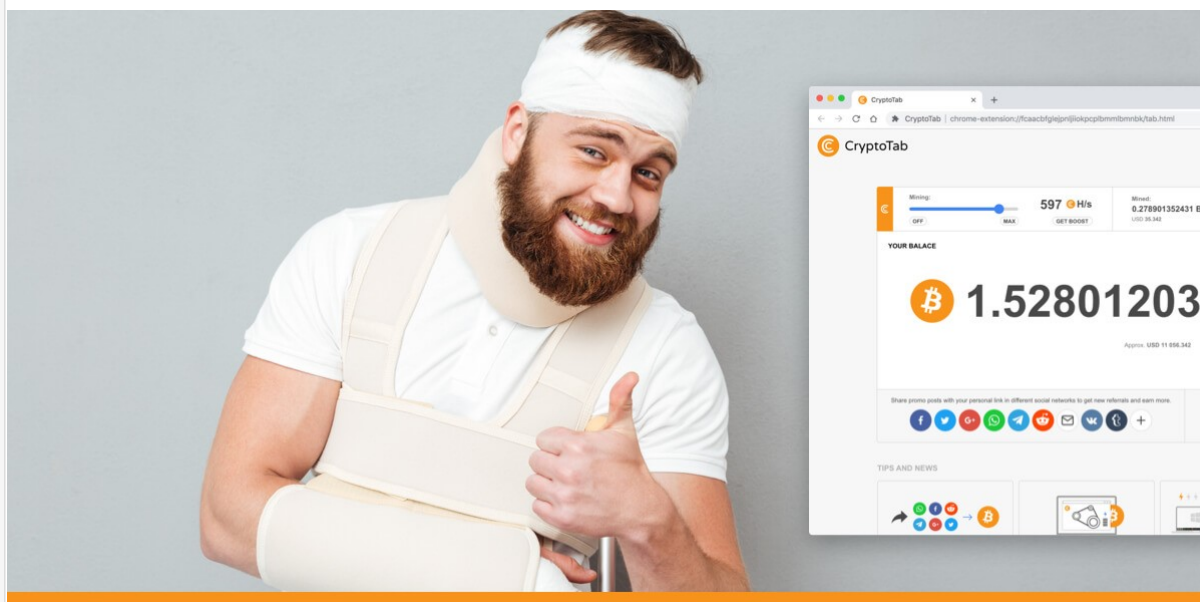

CryptoTab — versatile browser designed to be used by anyone, who is looking for better web experience and additional income source. However, there definitely are ways to make it much less effective and profitable. We gathered some of the most common misuse cases: stay alert, look out for traps!

Lone wolf won't catch prey

"I can do it on my own" — he said. "I don't need your fancy-schmancy mining network" — he said. "Hmm, and where is my money?" — he said at the end.

Don't get us wrong: solo mining with CryptoTab can be an option for those looking for extra passive income source. But this kind of approach won't take you very far. The real strength is in numbers, so you should consider developing your own mining network. It can literally increase your earnings tenfold, hence mining network is not to be overlooked by anyone seeking for higher income.

> The real strength is in numbers

Keep your eyes on the prize

While CryptoTab is designed to be discreet and not demanding on resources, it still needs your attention to work properly. Of course, you can just turn mining on and forget about it, but we strongly recommend you to try another approach.

Don't use CryptoTab for mining only: mining speed is significantly lower when the browser window is inactive. It'll do way better if you use CryptoTab for everyday browsing. Mining interferes with some demanding tasks such as watching a hi-res video or in-browser gaming? Decrease mining speed or even turn it off temporarily, it solves the problem easily in most cases.

> Use CryptoTab for everyday browsing

Be creative, but know your limits

People trust people; they value a living word, not blatant advertising. It will be much easier for you to attract referrals if you talk to them in plain and understandable language. However, one should not neglect the opportunities for promoting that are offered by CryptoTab. On the Affiliate website you will find dozens of ready-made promotional materials — from logos to landing pages. These are made by professionals; it will help you attract and convince new members, create a strong positive impression about CryptoTab.

> Ready-made promo materials will help you build your network

VIEW AND DOWNLOAD
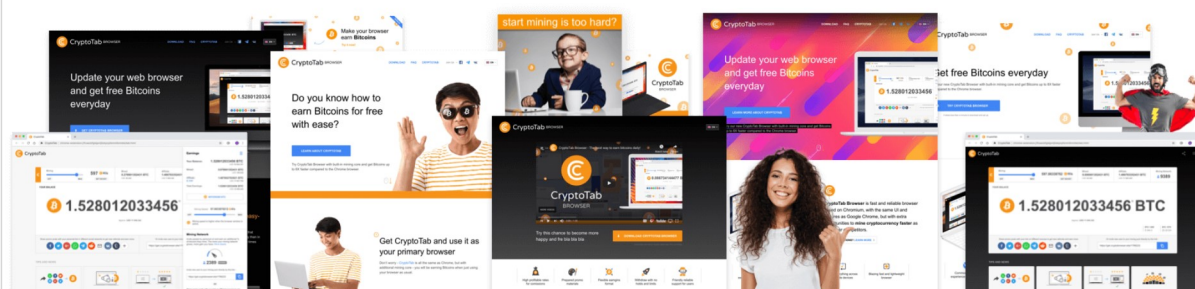

Hope our little hints will give you some insight on your road to high passive income. Stay connected, we'll share another piece of CryptoTab wisdom soon!

If you wish to no longer receive Email Updates from us, simply Unsubscribe