OUR ANALYSIS

FTM

FANTOM - FTM saw a price increase of almost 104% and a rise in transactions of about 14%. Additionally, traders' holdings of $FTM surged by about 240%, indicating investor trust in the network. Last but not least, the Sonic upgrade scheduled for Spring 24 is probably going to enhance network activity even more because it will lower costs by about 95% and raise TPS to 2K, which will encourage adoption and raise demand for $FTM.

AVAX

AVALANCHE - While the number of active users on the network climbed by about 26%, the price of $AVAX surged by almost 27%. Additionally, the protocol's fees increased by almost 43% on a moM basis. Finally, around 75% of $AVAX holders are profitable, and the last time this occurred was in 2021, when the token's price increased by almost 40%. As a result, investors are probably holding $AVAX in expectation of future gains.

ARB

ARBITRUM - While its transactions increased by almost 40%, Arbitrum had a roughly 27% increase in active users. Their community has been abuzz since they announced an eight-week gaming hackathon, and this trend is probably going to continue. Finally, because Ethereum's Dencun upgrade will help lower transaction costs, L2 solutions like Arbitrum are sure to see a rise in popularity now that it's online.

OUR ANALYSIS

MANA

DECENTRALAND - Decentraland announced Game Expo showcasing the future of web3 gaming, the first-ever Decentraland Game Expo will take place June 26-29. Featuring 2024 game jam winners, the best DCL games, and web3 panel talks! with this the activity in the Decentraland marketplace is also recovering, with a ~ 40% increase in the asset value in its metaverse.

APT

APTOS -Aptos is bringing Web3 to the masses with cutting-edge tech like a new consensus model, smart contracts, and superior security. Additionally, Aptos announced the launch of AptosAscend, powered by Microsoft Azure OpenAI, which will be a first-of-its kind finance solution for enterprises.

OUR ANALYSIS

BTC

BITCOIN - With the Bitcoin halving in April, market is expected show the positive sentiments.

ETH

Ethereum, being the second-largest crypto, will have the impact of BTC Halving. With the price moving up and down we see an opportunity to trade and take the benefit
